NOWADAYS, ALL IS NOT GOLD THAT GLITTERS IN MONTANA

If the unexpected in natural events or human behavior is a prime ingredient of news, then a story out of Helena, Mont., a few days ago certainly deserved a bigger play than most newspapers gave it.

To get right down to cases, they hit pay dirt again in Last Chance Gulch, which yielded up some $16,000,000 worth of gold in the middle of the last century. The gulch, to be sure, is now Helena's main street. And the "prospectors" were workmen digging a hole for a new elevator shaft under the Placer Hotel. Nevertheless, they did hit pay dirt.

Somewhere must have shouted "Gold!", or excited words to that effect. But the excitement didn't generate any such fever as once made Montana a perilous frontier place.

The hotel management did call in some mining experts. They estimated that the strike was worth about $1.75 a cubic yard, which would be rich enough to work. But the management told the workmen to go ahead and pour in the concrete. One of the officials explained the decision with these heretical words: "We don't have time to mess with gold."

Such a statement, uttered in the Montana of frontier days, would have branded the speaker as crazy. Today it probably reflects a soundness of judgment. For gold is no longer a symbol of the ultimate in earthly desire. It is just another one of those things that modern man can take or leave.

We don't think that this is a sign that human cupidity has vanished during the last century or that American enterprise has lost its zing. It is simply that the management of the Placer Hotel has adapted itself to a world in which a lot of old values have new price tags.

Those hotel men in Helena live in a country whose government has most of the world's gold. This gold was dug out of the earth, just as the gold would have been dug out of the hotel men's elevator shaft if they had said the word. The United States government bought all its gold with dollars. But having bought it, what did it do with it? It put it right back in the ground.

The government didn't buy things with the gold, or sell it to its citizens. It posted a guard over the buried treasure and called it a gold reserve. That is a fund which assures holders of United States government notes that the notes can be redeemed in gold. Of course, if they really tried to exchange them for gold they might run into trouble. But as long as the holders know the gold is there, nobody tries.

So perhaps the Placer Hotel people weren't so foolish to pour concrete on their new gold strike. The metal just stays in the ground, where it would have wound up anyway. Above it a new elevator will soon be running. And at present hotel rates, the management will gross considerably more than $1.75 a cubic yard for the guests that ride in it.

Boyle's Column Two Strikes And Out

By Hal Boyle
New York — (AP) — Post-election notes:
Gov. Thomas E. Dewey probably stirred the emotions of his followers more deeply in defeat than he ever had in victory.
He took one of the most crushing upsets in American political history with real sportsmanship.
In his post-election press conference—a 13-minute farewell to his national political aspirations—he gave no excuses for his defeat. And he indulged in no self-pity.
He wore the air of a champion. He had given the best of what he had to give—and he didn't blame anybody if that hadn't won him what he wanted.
There were a number of red-eyed members of his staff at the conference, and Dewey, a man who rarely demonstrates personal emotion, brought tears to his eyes as he thanked them for the efforts made in his behalf.
He showed that he does have in some measure a gift of leadership that some observers have doubted—the ability to inspire affection as well as loyalty. Many will long remember he said of his wife, who remained by his side all night as for a second time in four years his dream of being president ebbed.
"She has been through this before," he said. "We have won and lost at various times—and all in good fun."
Perhaps it was their example that led Dewey to conclude two strikes were enough.
Son Expresses Doubt
The first member of the Dewey family to express doubt on the election trend was the governor's younger son, John, 13.
Early Tuesday night the family posed together for newswreels in the Hotel Roosevelt. To make the scene more realistic, a newswreel man turned on the radio and growled the Deweyes around it.
"Truman is leading by—" the radio blared unexpectedly.
John whistled in amazement and exclaimed:
"Holy Gee, Dad!"
Dewey smiled and said:
"That doesn't mean anything. It doesn't count. That's just the south."
He wasn't convinced himself until the next morning when two states of his own midwest—Illinois and Ohio—went against him.

Autumn Day Dreams

"There came a time for rest . . . amid the colors of tumbling leaves. Smoke from the bonfire wrought strange shapes in the crisp air as it ascended into castles and battlements . . ." Simpson Will Propose Bill To Crack Down On Nationwide Polls

Congressman Sid Simpson, reelected Tuesday by voters of the 20th Illinois district, told the Journal Courier today that he intends to introduce a bill in the U. S. House of Representatives which if enacted into law would put an end to nationwide poll fiascos, such as the public witnessed during the presidential campaign.

Talking by telephone from his office at Carrollton, Congressman Simpson said his bill will be designed to prohibit publication or use on radio of polls affecting candidates for president, vice president, U. S. senator and members of congress.

"In view of circumstances I believe President Truman probably would approve of such a bill," Congressman Simpson commented.

He said that for several years he has had a notion that nationwide polls in advance of elections are against public interest.

"They have a bad influence," he continued, "regardless of which candidate or which party they favor. Nationwide polls influence betting—they could influence undecided voters. A few men who direct these public polls on a national scale shouldn't have so much power in their hands."

The Carrollton congressman declared that there is nothing partisan in his plan to bar national pollsters

Baptist church of Springfield and Modern Woodman lodge.

The remains were removed to the Williamson Funeral Home in this city, where services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Rev. Clair E. Malcomson will officiate and burial will be in Diamond Grove cemetery.

The family will meet friends at the funeral home between the hours of 7:30 to 9 p.m. Friday.

LONG DISTANCE WORRIES

Denver—(AP)—The gent who telephoned Police Dispatcher James Lindsay from Mary, Ky., sounded pretty excited. He had been talking with his Denver girl friend by long distance, he said, when he heard "sounds like a brawl." Maybe his g.f. was in danger.

Lindsay did some investigating and reported back that it was just one of the girl's male relatives who had been celebrating something or other in noisy but harmless fashion.

Another Election Bet

Nobody seems to know just how or when it started, the good old American custom of the loser of an election bet pushing a wheelbarrow, complete with the winner, all the way around the public square. But it started sometime and has lived longer than the proverbial cat.

Clarence Watts laughingly collapses at the second turn as he wheels Glenn Kendrick around the Jacksonville square Wednesday night.

"I deserved it," Watts asserted. "I'm just an old Virginia Democrat who believed the polls were right."

Canvassing Board Begins Work At Office Of Clerk

Not that the results are expected to change anything, but the canvassing board got down to business Thursday at the office of County Clerk George Douglas to make an official check of the vote cast in Tuesday's election.

The canvass of poll books is required by law after each election. Results in the county were so conclusive that no material changes will be made from the unofficial tabulations compiled on election night.

Justice L. D. Deatherage of Waverly and Justice W. C. Hart of Franklin joined County Clerk Douglas in the task, assisted by clerks in the office.

Georgetown Lady Loses 30 Lbs. With This Home Recipe

Mrs. Ernest James, 201 W. West St., Georgetown, Ill., writes, "I am 30 years old and before I started taking Rennei I was very much over weight and constantly felt bloated and stuffy. Since taking Rennei I have lost 30 pounds. The stuffy feeling has gone entirely and I feel much better. I have faith that Rennei will help me to lose in the future as it has in the past."

Hundreds of others have obtained similar relief from the social and physical discomfort of being overweight. Why not try this effective yet inexpensive method of reducing and enjoy the pleasures of feeling younger and more alive. Try Rennei and notice the admiring looks you will receive from your friends as your figure becomes younger and your vitality increases. Just go to your druggist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Rennei. Pour the contents into a pint bottle—add enough unsweetened grapefruit juice to fill the bottle and then take two tablespoons a day. That's all there is to it. If you aren't satisfied with the results return the empty bottle to the manufacturer and your money will be refunded. You need never know a hungry moment while taking Rennei—no starvation diet—no printed diet list to buy—no vitamins to fortify you against weakness while going hungry. For you WON'T be hungry. Don't be switched to another product. Insist on the genuine Rennei.

Early Entries Presage Record Live Stock Show

Chicago, Ill.—Entries for the 48th International Live Stock Exposition are pouring into show headquarters at the Chicago Stock Yard from all parts of the continent, and show officials say they indicate the biggest International ever held in the nearly 50 years of its history.

With entries closing Monday for the individual livestock classes, it is expected that the final tally may bring the total number of head of livestock to be shown in Chicago to between 13 and 14 thousand.

Entries have already been noted as coming from 30 states and 4 Canadian provinces, and W. E. Ogilvie, show manager, states that scores of these represent showings from stockmen, breeders and farm folk who have never exhibited livestock at the Chicago show before.

This reflects an unprecedented interest in the events of livestock shows throughout the country, it is believed.

Seventy-seven well-known stockmen, packers, agricultural college specialists, and horsemen representing 15 states, Canada, and Argentina have been selected to choose winners among the anticipated showings in livestock, the Horse Show, and the 26th International Grain and Hay Show, which is held in conjunction with the Exposition.

Kansas to Judge Steers

Heading the judges' panel this year will be Dr. A. D. Weber, popular Kansas State College cattleman, who will judge all of the individual steer classes of the show which will be climaxed Tuesday afternoon with the selection of the Grand Champion Steer. It will be the first time that an American has judged International steers.

Enrique Santamarina, well-known Argentine Shorthorn breeder, will judge the breeding classes for Shorthorns. Other judges will be announced shortly.

Illinois leads in the number of counties represented by registrations for the show, officials report. Entries have been received from 32 Illinois counties. Iowa is second with 30, and Ohio third with 25. These numbers are expected to be doubled by next week.

The International Grain and Hay Show and the International Horse Show will accept entries through November 10, and the carlot classes of fat livestock will close entries November 20.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK
MARKET REPORT

Chicago, Nov. 4.—(P)—Hog prices were unevenly 25 cents to $1.00 lower today but cattle were steady to strong and sheep strong to 50 cents higher.

Most good and choice barrows and gilts made $24.00 to $24.25, the freely paid top, on weights between 180 and 300 pounds. Weights outside these figures were too few to test for a market. Sows brought $21.50 to $23.50.

A load of choice to prime steers topped for the day at $40.75, most good to low-choice material taking $30.50 to $36.50. Good heifers brought $27.50 to $32.50, good beef cows $21.50 to $22.50, medium and good sausage bulls $22.00 to $23.50, and vealers from $32.00 downward. Stock cattle also were steady, medium and good feeding steers and yearlings getting $21.50 to $27.00.

Good and choice slaughter lambs ranged between $25.50 and $26.50, and ewes were mostly $9.00 to $10.00. Total receipts included 15,500 hogs, 2,700 cattle, 500 calves, and 5,000 sheep.

New York Stock
Market

New York, Nov. 4.—(P)—A decisive recovery move boosted stock prices today after the worst decline in two years yesterday.

Gains ran from fractions to around 3 points as the market tried to recoup some of the ground lost in Wednesday's post-election selling drive.

Volume tended to slow down a bit after fast morning trade, but at that an unusually large amount of business was done. Turnover was at the rate of around 1,500,000 shares for the full session, which would compare with 3,320,000 yesterday, a high for nearly a half a year.

The rally was viewed in Wall Street as a natural rebound. A substantial amount of yesterday's losses were recovered.
Demand appeared for a wide variety of issues, including steels, rails, oil, liquors, utilities, motors and chemicals.

Among stocks gaining ground were U. S. Steel, Inland Steel, American Telephone, Phelps Dodge, Union Pacific, Standard Oil of California, Montgomery Ward, Nickel Plate, baby scales, desk lamps and many Distillers Corp., Firestone Tire, and Bethlehem Steel.

Railway bonds leaned ahead. U. S. governments held unchanged in over-the-counter dealings.

JULY AND SEPTEMBER
WHEAT IN UPTURN;
OTHER GRAINS UP

Chicago, Nov. 4.—(P)—Advances in wheat ran up to around 4 cents at times today as post-election inflationary sentiment expanded. The big gains were scored in July and September contracts and much of the buying came from individuals who had been short in these deliveries.

The short-covering movement in deferred wheat contracts got underway yesterday, following the election upset. It was based on the belief the government price support level for 1949 wheat will be higher than present futures prices.

All other grains, as well as soybeans and corn, followed wheat higher.
Receipts were: wheat 7 cars, corn 526, oats 11 and soybeans 89.

Wheat closed 3-3/4 higher. December $1.29 1/2, corn was 1-1/8 higher December $1.39 1/2, oats were unchanged to 1/4 higher. December 79 1/2, rye was 1 1/2 to 2 cents higher. December $1.2, soybeans were 2 1/2 to 5 cents higher. November $2.55-$2.55 1/2, and lard was 15 to 45 cents a hundred pounds higher. November $19.40.

AUSTRIA COUNTS ITS REFUGEES

Vienna.—(P)—There is one displaced person or refugee for each seven citizens of this country according to the latest figures of the International Refugee Organization (IRO).

IRO figures show there are 425,000 registered displaced persons and refugees. In addition there are 35,000 persons holding German citizenship and persons of German ancestry expelled from other countries and 5,000 miscellaneous aliens, all holding indefinite residence but with no actual guarantee of Austrian citizenship.

They do not include a further 85,000 South Tyroleans whose future is still undecided. Latest figures give Austria a total population of 7,500,000 persons, excluding the refugees. Any scheme to give refugees Austrian citizenship has been bitterly opposed by the communist party.

Crimsons Face Havana In Game There Tonight

Coach Bob Kraushaar's Jacksonville high school, Crimsons, apparently revitalized after a two-week layoff from grid combat, invade Havana's field tonight seeking their second victory of the 1948 campaign. The JHS assemblage enters the combat in the role of favorite.

Work on the charging sled, revamped plays and slightly changed personnel compose the formula which the Crimsons hope will bring them their first win since they downed Winchester in the second contest of the year.

Beaten 40-6 By Beardstown
Havana, which recently has failed to produce a strong Spoon River Valley conference contender, again is definitely "down" in Illinois prep ranks. The Ducks last week absorbed a 40-6 lulling at Beardstown. Jacksonville backed to a 7-7 tie with the Tigers.

The JHS eleven is in fine shape for the engagement. All of the gridgers who have been reporting to practice during the last two weeks are considered O.K. Only casualties are several reserves who dropped the sport because of more serious injuries.

The faces are about the same as those topped by the red and white helmets against Carlinville two weeks ago tonight, but the style of play is greatly changed. Jacksonville seems to have returned to the same hard-charging club which showed so well against Beardstown and Rushville.

Tonight's Starters
The offensive lineup shows little change. Fred Lawson and Richard Gotshall will be on the ends, Charlie Runkel and Jack Chapman will handle the tackles and Francis Bunch and Dick Grunty will play guard. Bob Fanning will return to

Many Illinois Prep Elevens Will End Season This Week

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 4.—(P)—More than 100 downstate high school teams end 1948 football activity this weekend in a program that will name another handful of conference co-titlists or undisputed champions.

Four of 16 remaining untamed outfits shoot for perfect season charts in the big batch of win/loss tilts, while nine others bid to extend undefeated status before finishing last on Three or four.

The Big 12 league trophy hinges on a pair of games sending Pekin to Decatur and Peoria Manual to Springfield on Friday. Depending on the outcome of these two engagements, either Pekin or Springfield can cap sole flag possession—or the hunting will be shared by a brace of clubs, with Pekin, Springfield and Decatur figuring in various possibilities.

Because Pekin's Chinks alone are unbeaten and untied in league play and have shown the most potent attack, they rule a slight favorite to grab at least a part of the title. Also up for final decision are pennants in the Suburban, South Suburban and Cornbelt loops.

If, as expected, Oak Park turns back Proviso and New Trier of Winnetka vanquishes Evanston on Saturday, the victors will divide Suburban honors Oak Park's Huskies have monopolized three years running.

Bloom Tied Twice
The key south suburban bout on Friday matches Bloom of Chicago Heights and Calumet City, a pair of perennial crown rivals. Undefeated in all competition to date, Bloom has been tied twice by loop foes. Calumet City's losses have been to outside opponents.

Normal University's Pioneers figure to claim undisputed ownership of the Cornbelt prize by making Trinity of Bloomington their sixth straight victim Friday. However, an upset would throw the Pioneers into a three way tie with Trinity and Pontiac.

The midstate argument will be settled when Pana, unstoppable in seven outings, tangles in its final with Hillsboro's Hilltoppers, who have a clear conference record.

Bowling Alley Opens Tonight

Jacksonville's new bowling alleys, on North East street near East Douglas avenue, will be available for open bowling starting tonight, according to announcement made Thursday evening by the managers. Loop action at the new 12-alley establishment begins Monday night.

The alleys are ready for use, according to the announcement. Considerable work remains to be done on the remainder of the building and a formal opening won't be held until all is in readiness.

New alley equipment also will be received and installed before completion of the project.

FRANKLIN TRACKMEN IN DISTRICT MEET

Franklin — Seven boys from Franklin high school entered the district cross country meet held at East St. Louis on Saturday, Oct. 30. The boys who entered were James Ransom, Robert Hembrough, Roger Hovey, Jerry Ramsey, Norman Witherbee, Robert Spires and Bernard Newingham.

Of the Franklin boys, James Ransom and Roger Hovey came in first and second respectively. The Franklin team took eighth place.

All-American Prospects Feature Miss., Okie Game

Norman, Okla., Nov. 4.—(P)—There'll be a steady flow of fine football talent in and out of the Missouri and Oklahoma lineups at Norman, Okla., Saturday.

The game, which will match two undefeated records in league play figures to show a couple of All-American candidates and a flock of hopefuls for the Big Seven conference mythical all-star aggregation.

Scouts for the various post season bowls who are expected to be among some 35,000 spectators would do well to center attention on Guard Buddy Burris, of Oklahoma, and Mel Sheehan, Missouri end.

Burris, a 220-pound bruiser from Muskogee, Okla., was a fine defensive player as a freshman on Tulsa's 1943 Sugar Bowl team. Under Coach Bud Wilkinson, Burris has developed into a terrific blocker.

Sheehan, 220-pound senior from Normandy, Mo., has been a great offensive end for two years. Now Coach Don Faurot says Mel also is a whale of a defender. Sheehan, who won ten letters in four sports during his school days, has caught 18 passes for 254 yards.

Stewart Maiden, Golf Professor, Dies In Atlanta

Atlanta, Nov. 4.—(P)—Stewart Maiden, the professor of championship golf, died in an Atlanta hospital today on the same floor where his former protegee—Bobby Jones—lay ill.

"Kiltie, the king-maker," the little Scot who spent thousands of hours showing Jones the way to swing and putt, suffered a stroke three weeks ago which left him paralyzed and unconscious.

He entered the hospital just a few days before Jones, who is improving after a neck operation.

In 1908 Maiden left Carnoustie, Scotland, and came to Atlanta where he took the club professional's job at East Lake. During the next 12 years he tutored several hundred Atlantans in the "royal and ancient" game. At least three of them used his swing to win between them nearly a hundred national and sectional golf championships.

His first student was Miss Alex Stirling, now living in Canada. Miss Stirling won the national women's amateur championship three times before and just after World War I. She retired from competitive golf at a time when she, like Jones, ruled the game.

Harbert-Heafner Tied For Lead In Golf Meet

Chick Harbert of Northville, Mich., and Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., were tied after 36 holes with totals of 141.

A single stroke behind trailed consistent Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N. Y., Sammy Snead, the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., slugger; Joe Taylor of Bristol, Tenn., and Julius Boros, Little Bridgeport, Conn., amateur, had 143's and Glen Teal of Charlotte was next at 144.

These were the players who were expected to fight it out in tomorrow's 36-hole final for the $1,500 first prize money.

There were some slips even among this select group. After the first round Harbert, Teal and Boros had 68's and Heafner a 69. Today Harbert came in with a one-over-par 73 and Heafner, after some scrambling on the back nine, shot a par 72 to match his 121 total. Today Boros needed 75 strokes to get around the long and difficult No. 2 course at the Pinehurst Country club and Teal shot a 76.

Meanwhile Harmon matched his opening 71 to slide into third place.

Higher Prices In Near Future Seen By Bank

St. Louis, Nov. 4.—(P)—The Federal Reserve bank said today it sees a slowly rising price trend in the near future.

The bank's monthly review reported that the mid-September to mid-October drop in average wholesale commodity prices probably will be reversed. It said the outlook for continued low meat prices is "not good."

Heavy consumer demand was one reason for the general upward price trends throughout the past year, the bank said. It reported that in less than six months, annual income has increased about $9,500,000, mostly as a result of the impact of the third round of wage increases.

"Higher costs resulting from wage increases, higher raw material prices and increased freight rates have been passed on to the consumer in many cases with little or no protest resulting," the review stated.

DEATH FOR KIDNAPERS

The Lindbergh law provides the death penalty for one taking a part, no matter how small, in a kidnapping that results in the death of the victim.

Pennsylvania Gridders Favored Over Penn State

New York, Nov. 4.—(P)—Taking a stab at the weekly pigskin predictions with a six-week average that now stands at 774 on 369 correct guesses and 108 that went amiss:

Penn State vs. Pennsylvania—Fans in the Keystone state have been waiting six years for this one. Neither team has been beaten in two years, although the Nittany Lions' tie with Michigan State rubbed a little of the luster off their Saturday collision. On the theory that the hefty Quakers have done the most with the toughest opposition, one shaky vote for Pennsylvania.

Tennessee vs. Georgia Tech—Technically looking ahead to Tennessee's game over Auburn, Kentucky, see while making Duke its sixth straight victim, can't afford a let-down now with the Southeast conference title and a bowl bid in sight.

Notre Dame vs. Indiana—Look for a lop-sided score here. The fighting Irish once more are counted the country's best and they likely will turn on enough power to stay that way. Indiana, battered down four times in a row, appears powerless to do anything about it. The secretary will cast the usual vote for Notre Dame.

Texas vs. Baylor—Only a miracle could lift Texas onto the Southwest conference throne after three losses, including one to SMU. But the Longhorns won't be conceding anything to unbeaten but once-tied Baylor, which barely licked TCU and still has SMU to play. Probably close. In a comeback, Texas.

UCLA vs. California—This will be No. 8 for the Bears, with only two more hurdles to clear for a perfect season. California.

Navy vs. Michigan—It was a 41-7 triumph over Navy that enabled Notre Dame to replace Michigan as the No. 1 team. If Michigan is to return to the top, the Wolverines need to make a showing at least as good. Looks like a rough afternoon for the Middies, who are accustomed to same. Michigan.

Stanford vs. Army—The Indians probably figured on having more strength when they scheduled this one. They may win, but they hardly figure to win. Army.

Missouri vs. Oklahoma—Missouri beat SMU, which took Texas by a bigger score than Oklahoma did. However, on a sentimental hunch, Oklahoma.

Georgia vs. Florida—Just a work-out for the Bulldogs. Georgia.

Texas A. and M. vs. Southern Methodist—SMU, despite its lone loss to Missouri, is a red hot favorite here. Southern Methodist.

Northwestern vs. Wisconsin—With the Rose Bowl assignment in sight, the powerful Wildcats aren't likely to stub their toes now, although Wisconsin may play this one for Harry Stuhldreher. Northwestern.

Running rapidly over the rest of the week-end's better games:

Trenton College Gridders Haven't Won Since 1941

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 4.—(P)—Trenton State teachers college football team has no worries about being invited to a Bowl game.

It hasn't won a contest since 1941. During that time, the Little Lions, as the eleven is nicknamed, have gone 35 games without a win. They haven't all been losses, though, mind you.

Last Saturday, for example, the Little Lions held Panzer college to a 0-0 tie and last year they played a scoreless deadlock with Rider college.

Coach George Ackerman and his boys never get discouraged. The stout body supports the team. To each game brings more and more of the students out.

"They don't seem to be the least bit disturbed," Ackerman said today. "In fact, they enjoy themselves more every Saturday. I think they all come because they're sure that eventually we'll win a game and no one wants to miss it."

Trenton plays Upsala this Saturday. Guess who's favored.

NOW IT'S POETRY FOR THE NAVY

Pearl Harbor.—(P)—There's a poet sailing with the U. S. Navy's Task Force 38, now steaming toward the Far East. He's 67-year-old Charles Wharton Stork, author of "On Board Old Ironsides," epic poem of the war of 1812.

Stork, author, critic and lecturer, is the Navy's favorite poet. He writes in a language Navy men understand—and like. That's why he was invited to travel aboard the Princeton, 27,000 ton carrier with Task Force 38. The "Navy Poet" has written numerous poems about the sea, among them "Sunset Harbor" and "Sea and Bay." In 1939 he put in verse his experiences aboard the Athena, which was torpedoed by the Germans.

But it's Stork's word-picture of the War of 1812 that caught the eye of the admirals. They hope that after his tour with Task Force 38 he might do as well in writing about World War II and modern naval warfare.

Hannibal's armies consisted almost exclusively of mercenaries and soldiers of fortune.

Winchester Beats Carrollton 11-13-0 Thursdays

Carrollton—Showing overwhelming superiority in all but the third quarter, Coach Howard Lester's Winchester Wildcats rang up their second Illinois Valley conference decision of the season here Thursday night, downing Carrollton 13-0.

Once again it was Bill Stuart who sparked Wildcat play, although he received fine aid from the other three backs and a smooth working line.

Stuart intercepted several passes to set up Winchester drives. He scored one Wildcat touchdown himself, dashing 20 yards around right end to cross onto pay dirt.

The Stuart touchdown came after the Wildcats had received the kickoff and moved steadily toward the goal line with five straight first downs.

In the second quarter, the visitors scored again. Stuart intercepted a pass and ran to the Carrollton 15. Finally Drummond bulled over. Stuart plunged for the extra point.

Although the Wildcats chalked up 16 first downs compared with Carrollton's seven, the Hawks made several marches and threatened several times. The hosts looked especially good in the third period.

Staples and Linn were backfield standouts for Coach "Buzzy" Bradley's eleven.

Winchester also threatened several other times.

Denver Refuted For Football Expert Story

Waterloo, Ia., Nov. 4.—(P)—Wait a minute Mr. Bitman—the Waterloo Courier sports department sympathizes with you but can't agree that "Denver has more football experts than any city in the world."

The Courier staff read with sympathetic understanding your story of having 412 persons pick the 10 winners in your football contest. They understood how you must feel about giving away 412 suits at a cost of $22,248.

(Harry Bitman, Denver tailor, had 412 suits to pay off at a suit apiece with a total value of $22,248 in last week's football contest sponsored by his firm. Each had a perfect score for 10 games.)

It isn't going to cost the Courier $22,248 but the paper can top Harry's story as far as football experts are concerned.

In last week's Courier contest there were 432 perfect scores among 2,135 entries. And what's more these Iowa experts each selected 15 winners.

The Courier cost will be picking up the tab for the 432 at a banquet. Plus a special plate, perhaps, for the contest editor—he also named the 15 winners.

Three Ivy Games Carded Friday

Three Illinois Valley conference contests are carded this afternoon and tonight.

Two games, both tonight, will go a long way toward determining first division finishes. They match Jerseyville and Greenfield and Pittsfield and White Hall, with the last mentioned outfits being host.

Rodhouse entertains Pleasant Hill in the third tilt this afternoon.

Winchester played at Carrollton last night.

Another prep team in this area—Waverly—entertains Diverson in an M.S.M. encounter tonight at 8 o'clock.

Badgers Ragged In Scrimmage

Madison, Wis., Nov. 4.—(P)—The University of Wisconsin football squad looked a bit ragged today as it continued to work on pass defense in preparation for Saturday's homecoming game with Northwestern.

After the long pass session, Coach Harry Stuhldreher put his charges through a dummy scrimmage against the freshmen.

The playing field at Camp Randall Stadium has been kept covered this week, but frequent rains have made a slippery gridiron probable for Saturday.

PURDUE LEAVES TWO BEHIND

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 4.—(P)—Halfbacks Kenneth Gorgal and Norbert Adams stayed home today as the Purdue Boilermakers left for Minnesota. Gorgal has a leg injury and Adams is out with an old chest injury.

Quarterback Bob DeMoss, who injured a leg in the Marquette game last week, was reported ready for at least limited offensive action. Halfbacks Neil Schmidt and End Bob Whitmer were still on the doubtful list.

BOY FLEES HOSPITAL

Grantham, England.—(P)—The hospital nurses were pretty, but 13-year-old John Oe decided he just didn't want an operation. So he ran away in his pajamas.

He sprinted through half a mile of busy streets to his home, but pursuing attendants got there almost as quickly in a taxi. They persuaded him to return to the hospital. John's mother said he has had the operation now and is getting along fine.

ISD Coach Art Yates Named Coach Of Week By The United Press

The following story was released to United Press members Wednesday night:

"Arthur H. Yates, who couldn't even say hello to his team when he became coach at Illinois School for the Deaf, was named coach of the week by the United Press Tuesday."

"He won his spot by leading his team to its sixth victory in as many starts last weekend. That 13-0 triumph over the Indiana School for the Deaf moved ISD within two games of an undefeated and united season."

Climax Of Comeback
"It also marked a climax of the school's football comeback that reached its lowest peak in 1946, when the team lost seven games and salvaged one tie out of an eight-game schedule."

"That year was the first that Yates coached at ISD. Besides inheriting a 'green team,' Yates also was handicapped because he had no knowledge of sign language."

"He sat down and studied sign language—by observation, by reading books and by getting special tutoring from his predecessor, Kenneth Wilson, the present athletic director at the school. Then Yates was ready to build his team."

Better Last Year
"His football program began paying dividends last season. The state school won only three games on its eight-game schedule, but Yates didn't worry. He knew his was building. The results of his building program paid off this year."

"His team laced Carrollton, Waverly and Kincaid among downstate high schools. It romped two wins over the Wisconsin and Minnesota schools for the deaf. Last week came the win over the Indiana school."

"The team's next test will come from the Iowa School for the Deaf. The season will wind up with the traditional game between ISD and Jacksonville high school."

Quarterback Is Sparkplug
"Yates, a 31 year old Illinois college graduate, credits his quarterback, William Yates, who incidentally is no relation, with being the sparkplug of his team. Yates masterminds the team by spelling out play signals on his hands."

"The youthful coach of the week won't make any predictions about the final two games on his schedule. But he isn't worried about how his team will perform."

"You know, it's not the size of the dog in the fight, it's the size of fight in the dog," he said.

"My team's full of fight."

Former Yankee Star Shoots Self In Police Station

Washington, Nov. 4.—(P)—A man identified by Detective Sergeant W. V. Christian as former big league baseball star Jake Powell shot himself to death in police headquarters today.

Powell, 39, who earlier had given his address as Dayton, Ohio, had been picked up on a bad check charge earlier this afternoon. With him at the time was a woman who identified herself as Josephine Amber, Deland, Fla., who said they had planned to marry later in the day.

Powell formerly played on the Washington Nats and the New York Yankees. He was a star outfielder in the 1936 world series between the Yankees and the Giants.

"It's no hit-or-miss thing," he says. "Every time I've broken away for a long gain or a touchdown, we've had the punt-return signal on. It's part of our planned offense."

"When we figure the opposition is going to kick, some player gives the signal. I'm just one of 11 players. Of course, I have to carry the ball, but I don't get far if the other 10 don't carry out their assignments."

"It's just like a play from scrimmage. I know which way I'm supposed to go. Our blocking is set up to clear my path in that direction. If the first bunch down is taken inside or knocked to the outside, I just breeze along. The first 15 or 20 yards are the hardest. Once the other team gets strung out, it isn't too tough."

Nalley doesn't think speed has much to do with it. He thinks constant practice is what makes the play pay off in yardage.

Iowa Works Hard
Preparing For Illinois Tilt

Iowa City, Iowa, Nov. 4.—(P)—Iowa continued to work hard with no let-up today in their last full rehearsal before meeting Illinois Saturday.

The Hawks' 36-man squad will leave Iowa City for Chicago tomorrow.

Joe Grothous, Mearl Naber and Bob Longley definitely will not make the trip, with Lou Ginsberg still doubtful.

HORSE BOLTS; INJURES JOCKEY, SPECTATOR

Chicago, Nov. 4.—(P)—A jockey and spectator suffered minor injuries today at Sportsman park racetrack when a horse bolted during the first race.

Town Talk, ridden by Gerard Hulsen, bolted and struck an outside fence near the clubhouse turn. Hulsen was thrown over the fence and struck a spectator, Francis T. Rogers of suburban Elmhurst Park. Both were thrown to a cement walk.

Hulsen and Rogers were taken to a hospital for examination and treatment for minor injuries.

BROWNS NAME KEYSER MINOR LEAGUE OFFICIAL
St. Louis, Nov. 4.—(P)—The appointment of Lee Keyser, former president of the Toledo, (O.) Mudhens of the American Association, as secretary of the St. Louis Browns minor league operations was announced today.

Wildcats Improve Running Attack

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 4.—(P)—Northwestern devoted most of today's football practice session to brushing up its running attack for the game with Wisconsin Saturday. The Wildcats will end the week's work with a light drill tomorrow.

The Wildcats, who expect to be at full strength for the Badgers, will not leave for Madison until Saturday morning.

Horse and mule population on U. S. farms in 1945 was 11,455,000, compared with 26,700,000, high point reached during World War I.

Waltz into Darkness

BY WILLIAM IRISH. Copyright by William Irish—Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY. Time, 1850. Place, New Orleans. Louis Durand, 37, a well-to-do bachelor, has been corresponding with Miss Julia Russell, whom he has never seen. He has proposed marriage and she has accepted. According to her picture, Miss Russell is dark-haired, strong-featured and no longer young. Durand goes down to the dock to meet the boat that is to bring her from St. Louis. He is dumfounded when an exquisite young blond creature introduces herself as Julia. She explains her little deceit by saying she didn't want him to fail for just a pretty face. They are married and after a few wedding suppers, Durand takes his bride to the last new home he has built for her. Julia appears delighted with everything.

VI. It was a week later, 10 days at most. Rosy-cheeked, dewy-eyed, winsome in the early morning sunlight, in a dressing sack of warm yellow whose hue matched the sunny glow falling about her, she quickly forestalled Aunt Sarah, took the coffee urn from her hand, insisting as she did every day on pouring his cupful herself.

He smiled, flattered, as he did every day when this same thing happened. Settled in her chair, she raised her own cup, eyes smiling at him over its very rim. "This is really excellent coffee," she remarked, after a sip. "It's some of our own. One of the better grades, from the warehouse. I have a small sackful sent home every now and again for Aunt Sarah's use."

"I don't know what I should do without it. It is so invigorating, of a chilly morning. There is nothing I am quite so fond of."

"You mean since you have begun to sample Aunt Sarah's?" "No, always. All my life I—"

She stopped, seeing him look at her with a sort of sudden, arrested attention. It was like a stone cast into the bubbling conversation, and sinking heavily to the bottom, stilling it. There was some sort of contagion passed between them. Impossible to give it a name. She seemed to take it from him, seeing it appear on his face, and her own became strained and watchful.

"But—" he said at last, and didn't go on. "Yes?" She said with an effort. "Were you going to say something?"

"No, I—"

Then he gave himself the lie, went on to say it anyway. "But in your letter once you said the opposite. Telling me how you went down to a cup of tea in the morning. Nothing but tea would do. You could not abide coffee. 'Heavy, inky drink.' I can still remember your very words."

She lifted her cup again, took a sip. She was unable therefore to speak again until she had removed it out of the way. "True," she said, speaking rather fast to make up for the restriction, "but it had been removed. Once that was because of my sister."

"But your preferences are your own, how could your sister affect them?"

"I was in her house," she explained. "She was the one liked tea, I coffee. But out of consideration for her, in order not to be the means of causing her to drink something she did not like, I pretended I liked it too. I put it in my letter because I sometimes showed her my letters to you before I sent them, and I did not want her to discover my little deception."

"Oh," he grinned, almost with a breath of relief. HER complexion was a source of considerable wonderment to him. It seemed capable of the most rapid and unpredictable changes, almost within the twinking of an eye. These flushes and pallors, if such they were, did not actually occur before his eyes, but within such short spans of time that, for all practical purposes, it amounted to the same thing.

It was most noticeable in the mornings. On first opening the shutters and turning to behold her, her coloring would be almost camel-like. And yet, but a few moments later, as she followed in his wake down the stairs and rejoined him at the table, there would be the fresh hue of primroses, of pink carnations, in her cheeks.

One morning, however, his concern got the better of him. He rose from the table they were seated at, breakfasting, went over to her, and tested her forehead with the back of his hand. "What do you do that for?" she asked, with unmarred composure. "I wanted to see if you had a temperature."

He thought he saw her lips quiver treacherously, but they formed nothing but a small smile of reassurance. "Oh no, I am in perfectly good health."

"You are as white as a ghost, at times. Then at others—A few moments ago, in our room, you were unduly pale. And now your cheeks are like apples."

She turned her fork over, then turned it back again the way it had been. "It is the cold water, perhaps," she said. "I apply it to my face with strong pats, and that brings out the color. So you need not worry any longer, there's really nothing to be alarmed at."

"Oh," he exclaimed, vastly relieved. "Is that all that causes it? Who would have believed—!"

He turned his head suddenly. Aunt Sarah was standing there motionless, a plate she had forgotten to deliver held in her hand. Her eyes stared at Julia's face with a narrow-lidded scrutiny.

He thought, understandingly, that she too must feel concern for the state of her young mistress's health, just as he had, to fix upon her such a speculative stare of secretive appraisal.

The National Association of American War Dads is sponsoring Marigold Tag Day Saturday.

In some instances these children are in need of food, clothing and proper housing facilities. In other instances, the War Dads provide, on special occasions, the boys and small luxuries which always bring joy to the youngsters. Savings bank deposits have been started for each Morgan County Gold Star child and the local Chapter expects to add to these from time to time. Morgan county has 32 Gold Star children.

Katherine Bacon, Pianist, Opens M'Murray Program

By Mary Finch Rowland

The concert by Katherine Bacon, pianist, which opened the MacMurray Fine Arts Conference Thursday evening, gave music lovers in general a most enjoyable experience. Pianists especially were delighted at her choice of program, which contained some of the best-loved works in piano literature. And altogether the concert revealed a musical personality which, seemingly a bit reserved at first, revealed itself as one of warmth and color.

The first group contained two choral preludes of Bach-Busoni: "Awake, the Voice Commands," and "Rejoice, Beloved Christians." Miss Bacon played the first very seriously, bringing out to the full the organ-like effect which Busoni has achieved for the piano in his arrangements. The second was brighter in mood, and the theme stood out well from the clearly enunciated polyphony.

There followed the Sonata in F minor, Op. 37, of Beethoven, the "Appassionata." The first movement was quite restrained at first, but gained in power and fire. The second was done in fine legato with contemplation and tenderness. Throughout the third movement the excitement was still controlled, but the final presto was played with an abandon which was exciting.

Journal Courier Will Put Their Carrier Boys In Business On Nov. 6

Effective on Saturday, Nov. 6th, the Jacksonville Journal Courier will adopt the Junior Merchant plan of distribution and at the same time install the weekly payment plan. Your Junior Merchant Carrier will call to collect every week on Saturday morning.

Subscribers who are paid in advance beyond the date mentioned will not be called on until their subscription expires. However, on Saturday, one week after your present paid-up subscription with the office expires, the carrier will call to collect 20c per week, and will continue to do so each week thereafter, unless he is otherwise notified. In event your subscription is in arrears, our office collector will call to collect for all copies up to that date.

Many reasons could be given for the installation of the weekly payment plan along with the Junior Merchant System, but the main reason for the Journal Courier has had so many requests for this collection method from its readers, it feels obliged to make the change general. The plan is already in effect on the Journal and Courier in all neighboring towns.

The weekly pay plan is not new. It has been in use for many years by many newspapers, small and large. In fact, this plan whereby the carrier delivers and also collects has long been proven most satisfactory and highly efficient for complete year-around home delivery service since the customer and the carrier actually became acquainted in this new business relationship. Subscribers also maintain it will be much easier for the majority to pay by the week.

It is our sincere desire that our carriers give courteous, prompt and efficient service at all times. It is hoped that Journal Courier readers will appreciate this improved method and co-operate with the carriers. You can aid your neighborhood boy greatly by paying him promptly each week when he calls to collect.
